Esri Conservation Program

The Esri Conservation Program provides free or discounted access to Esri software and training for non-commercial uses related to environmental conservation. This program is available to all, but preference will be given to active SCGIS members.

To apply for this program, fill out this web form. In the box that asks 'Please explain why you are applying for a grant,' include the text SCGIS-[first name]-[last name], as part of your explanation.

For questions on SCGIS membership benefits, please email membership@scgis.org.
