

Midwest Chapter of the Society for Conservation GIS (MCGIS)

Who We Are

A community of conservation scientists using geospatial technology to share knowledge, exchange ideas, and come together in support of a thriving and resilient Midwest.

Who Can Join

We invite all conservation GIS scientists who live or work in the 13 states of the U.S. Midwest region (IL, IN, IA, KS, KY, NE, ND, MI, MN, MO, OH, SD, and WI) to become part of our growing community. Membership is open to all (students, researchers, professionals, etc.) regardless of affiliation. SCGIS membership fee is optional.

Why Join?

- Be informed of the latest geospatial data, tools, techniques, and publications.
- Share products and tasks with the community, get feedback, and learn.
- Consult with others to solve problems.
- Avoid duplication and redundancy in future Midwest tools and products.
- Meet new collaborators in the region.
